

Ryan S. Ponsford

Ryan Ponsford has been involved in wealth management, real estate, business building, and philanthropy for over two decades. From designing strategic solutions to some of our nations wealthiest families, creating business systems for rapidly growing companies, and founding and expanding Main Street Philanthropy, a non-profit organization, across the nation, his experience is extensive, yet built upon a repeatable set of core principles.

Ryan has been recognized as a thought leader, disrupter, and innovator in designing purpose-driven financial solutions that integrate illiquid assets, multi-generational wealth strategies, and inclusion of real estate into retirement solutions. With American Advisors Group, he leads a team specializing in designing solutions and education for financial professionals on how to effectively integrate home equity into retirement strategies.

Ryan graduated from Point Loma Nazarene University with a degree in Industrial-Organizational Psychology and extensive coursework in Chemistry. He holds securities and insurance licenses, is a Real Estate Broker, and holds multiple industry certifications. He has participated in industry-specific mastermind groups including InKnowVision, Sunbridge Legacy Advisors, Advisors in Philanthropy, and the Purposeful Planning Institute.

Beyond the office walls, Ryan is involved in various activities including serving on several nonprofit boards, singing in a quartet, playing guitar with a band, coaching several youth sports teams, and having grown up in Sonoma County, has an affinity for decent wines. He and his wife, Jennifer, live in north San Diego with their three young children.
